YANK MILITARY POWER ROLLS INTO JAPAN

Federal Budget Slashed By 19 Billions

CUT BRINGS ESTIMATE TO
66 BILLIONSPublic Debt Next June Is Figured At Only 273
Billion Dollars(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Uncle
Sam has lopped 19 billion dollars off the money he figured to spend this year. The reason: the sudden end to the war with Japan.Only a month ago the government figured it would have to spend at least 85 billion dollars in the present fiscal year which ends next June 30.This 19 billion dollar cut brings the estimate down to 66 billion.This is 34 billion less than the record 100 billion spent in the fiscal year which ended last June 30.Even though the war's over, at least 50 billion dollars of that 66 billion to be spent this year will have to go for war purposes. For this reason:Where Money Will Go War contracts, or settling war
contracts, paying, feeding, clothing, housing and transporting people in the armed services, food for relief of foreign countries.The other 16 billion of the total 66 billion to be spent is going for running the government, payments to or for war veterans, tax refunds and interest on the public debt.To meet the estimated 66 billion dollar bill the government will:1. Get about 36 billion from receipts, mostly taxes, unless congress cuts taxes.2. Get about 14 billion through selling bonds, including war bonds.3. Take the remaining 16 billion from cash on hand.The 14 billion to be obtained through selling bonds will be an increase in the public debt.That will bring total public debt to 273 billion dollars on next June 30, much less than previous predictions.Lordstown Arsenal Warehouses BurnFour fire trucks from Warren and two from Niles were called to a fire, believed to be among the warehouses, in the Lordstown U. S.
Army arsenal, on Route 45, north of North Jackson, at 9:11 today.Army authorities refused to allow newspapermen on the scene of the blaze and consequently little was known of the extent of the fire.The six trucks were still at the scene and smoke was visible from several miles away by noon, but unofficial reports said the fire was under control.Salem state highway patrolmen were alerted shortly after the fire was reported and the Salem fire department received a report that a call might be expected but nothing further materialized.

First American Prisoners Freed on Jap Soil

The almost hysterical joy of the first Allied prisoners on Jap soil to be liberated is evident in the dramatic photo above, made at Omeri. Flags of the United States, Great Britain (left) and the Netherlands wave triumphantly as the jubilant prisoners hail their approaching deliverers.

More Emaciated And Starving
Prisoners Freed From "Hell"

(By Associated Press)

ABOARD USS ANCON, OFF
YOKOHAMA, Aug. 31.—Emaciated
and starving, 1,000 more Allied prisoners of war reached this rescue ship today. Some said they had spent months in solitary confinement under constant threat of death.Thus far 1,494 prisoners have been freed from seven camps, many of the gallant survivors of Wake and Bataan were among them.Everyone rescued was suffering from malnutrition. Navy Commander Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor, reported, and 80 per cent of them showed "serious deficiencies."The worst cases were at Shingawa hospital—"no, don't call it a hospital, call it a hell-hole. The filth was indescribable."A Dr. Gottfried, who had been a navy doctor at Guam, had been put to work there with pick and shovel
—and not allowed to give any professional aid to fellow prisoners.
Stassen related.A few of the prisoners had scarred fingers—evidently the result of Japanese torture.One "inquisition center" from which several men were liberated will not be further identified until after it is fully occupied.At "hellhole hospital," one Australian patient had died 24 hours before the Americans arrived, and was still unburied. A British destroyer provided a guard of honor and he was interred with full military rites.Despite the hazard, prisoners
said they always welcomed
American bombing raids on Japan.

Many B-29 crewmen were among the prisoners and had been beaten severely; airmen, like submariners, were placed in a "special" classification by the captors.Conditions improved after Japan's surrender was announced, the prisoners said. Beatings were less frequent, and from plane-droppedrations the men got their first real meal in months.Prisoners will be sent home as soon as possible. Air transportation will be provided if available.Among the survivors on the mercy ship Reeves was Commander Richard O'Kane of Durham, N. H., skipper of the U. S. submarine Tang, torpedoed off Formosa last October.The sub effected a sensational rescue of 22 pilots shot down during carrier plane crashes against Truk, Japanese naval bastion in the Carolines.O'Kane found eight other crew-men of the Tang.We were held and questioned necessarily under constant threat of death," O'Kane said. "It was worse than anything we had seen before."Maj. Gregory Boyington, 26-plane Marine ace missing since Jan. 2, 1944, and unheard from until Americans occupied Japan, said his captors ignored the fractured ankle he had suffered in the crash that led to capture."They made me walk on the thing, blindfolded and handcuffed, and they prodded me along with the butt of a bayonet."He said the Japanese never announced his capture—and that following prisoners reported his safety 14 days after Japan surrendered by placing pieces of wood in the prison yard so that they spelled out:

"Pappy Boyington here."A naval plane photographed the sign.He was beaten repeatedly with a baseball bat, he related; and each

PROBE SOUGHTLeaders of Both Parties
Say Congress May Conduct Own Hearings

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Capitol
hill resounded today with clamor for further official investigation of Pearl Harbor.Legislative leaders of both party faiths declared flatly that if the courts martial are not ordered for those censured in Army-Navy findings congress will conduct its own hearings.These leaders, speaking privately, said the people want and should be given more facts that were made public in documents released by President Truman Wednesday.No committee chairman would promise an inquiry initiated by his own group, but several told a reporter there was no doubt congress would insist on the full story.Release Hull Letter
The state department released a letter written by former Secretary of State Hull Sept. 28, 1944, in which Hull staunchly denied his pre-war counter proposals to Japan constituted an ultimatum that provoked the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.The Army board's report on the disaster had said Hull "touched the button" that started the war.At Detroit Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said a resolution calling for a full senate investigation of the attack was on his desk in Washington and will be presented to the chamber as soon as it reconvenes next week.With sentiment apparently mounting for action to assure permanent establishment of some form of unified command for the armed forces, there were these developments:Three Developments
1. Chairman Woodrum (D-Va.)
of the house postwar military policy committee said his group probably will begin hearings within a month on legislation to merge the Army and Navy into a single national department of defense.2. Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the house military committee said he already had drawn a bill to give the joint staff permanent status.
The joint staff, set up after Pearl Harbor, includes Army and Navy chiefs and is headed by Adm. William D. Leahy, personal chief of staff to the President.3. Members of a special Army-Navy committee of inquiry reported they have submitted their recommendations to the joint chiefs regarding merger of the armed forces.Hull's letter, addressed to Secretary of War Stimson, said the counter-proposals he handed the Japanese Nov. 26, 1941, offered them "substantially the economic and other advantages they sought in Asia, provided they would give up their aggressive policies."Coroner May Use County

Glad To Have The War OverBY SPENCER DAVIS
(By Associated Press)TOKYO, Aug. 31.—Japanese police stand an indifferent guard on both banks of the Tama river bridge on the high road to Tokyo, but on the north bank the emperor's troops vigorously patrol the entrance and exits to Nippon's capital.The emperor's receipt ordering his people to lay down their arms and accept surrender is being observed with the utmost docility. Today they treat with

HOLDINGS PREPARATORY TO SURRENDER OF JAP EMPIRE

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Aug. 31.—American Marines took over the Tateyama naval base and airstation guarding the mouth of Tokyo bay today as the occupation forces hourly increased their holdings preparatory to Sunday's (Saturday night U. S. time) historic surrender of the Japanese empire.The leathernecks took possession of the vital naval installation in a rain storm.The Marines, under command of Maj. Wallace Crawford of Wilmette, Ill., will reconnoiter the beaches and defenses and in general prepare for the army occupation to follow.Already, while plans for the final surrender ceremonies still were under way, naval occupation forces at Yokosuka had started development of the great base for the use of allied shipping.The time for the Sunday ceremonies still was not announced and it was uncertain whether Adm.
Halsey's flagship Missouri, aboard which the formal capitulation will be made, will remain at its present anchorage several miles off Yokosuka or will move in closer to give the population of the Tokyo-Yokosuka area a close up of the mighty 45,000-ton symbol of American sea power.American military power rolled in by air in a stream that will continue at least until mid-September, when a half million troops will be billed in this conquered country.To bolster the first forces of more than 18,000 of the U. S. Eighth army under Lt. Gen. Robert L.
Eichelberger was due to start landing tomorrow at Yokohama and Tateyama, guardian of Tokyo bay. A new unidentified division was scheduled to land Sunday at Tokyo's Atsugi airfield.Spread Over 200 Mile Area
The Americans at Yokosuka naval base, at the Atsugi field, and at Yokohama linked up and spread throughout an area of more than 200 miles.From Tokyo all over—the Japanese east Asian front down to Truk and Indo-China, the Japanese surrender grew under a reported hitch.Gen. MacArthur, Allied supreme commander for Japan, established his temporary headquarters in the new Grand hotel in Yokohama, Tokyo's port city.The American embassy in Tokyo, its roof half burned off by an American bombing April 25, was scheduled for quick repair, to become MacArthur's regular headquarters.No immediate march into Tokyo was planned.For all the Japanese attitude of submission, the occupation forces were taking no chances on treach-ery.Both yesterday, at the time of the formal mass landings at Yokosuka naval base in Tokyo bay and at the Atsugi airfield southwest of Tokyo, and again today, more than 100 Superfortresses and 60 Mustang fighters roared over the landing scenes.Precautions Well Founded That the American precautions were well founded was indicated by Japanese who talked to Associated Press Correspondent Russell Brines,
as he strolled the streets of Tokyo.

Your Friend, The Merchant

It's about time to suspend the jibes, the jests and the downright mean things which have been said about the grocer, the butcher and the other retail merchants and to give a little thought to the way these retailers have kept going to serve their public during all the difficult wartime days.

They had too little to sell, too little help, too many forms to fill out; they were limited in their deliveries and other services, they were bound around with regulations and handicapped by innumerable obstacles as they tried to carry on their business but most of them did a pretty good job.

They were loaded with complaints from their old customers, they were besieged by chiselers, they worked long hours under most trying circumstances, and, for the most part, they made less money but they continued to serve Americans with the things they expect and need.

The same holds true for the butcher, the service station man and, in fact, practically everyone whose business is serving the public in a retail way.

The outlook is brighter. From now on there will be more goods for the shelves, the counters and the display cases and less red tape surrounding the business.

The wonder is that so many of them were able to do their job so well during times so trying that men of lesser caliber were willing to surrender to adversity.

Pearl Harbor Report

Reports of the Army and Navy investigations of the Pearl Harbor attack, released after complete victory had avenged the Japanese treachery, give no complete answer to anything which has been in the minds of Americans since that black day of Dec. 7, 1941.

They are fearless in their criticism of highest officers in both branches of the service, both on the scene and in Washington and they make a strong case of too much complacency against the heads of both services. It is this a crime, then most of the American public is guilty.

The major guilt which the reports charge is the easy-going American policy of refusing to believe the worst. The reports do not make public all the information available to the investigators but they indicate that the men responsible for the defense of America had ample warning that an attack was likely and that they did too little to guard against it.

Failure to recommend court-martial for the officers in direct command probably means that they never will be brought to trial. The fact that they were relieved of their command is punishment to which a formal trial could add little. Public statements by the President and Secretaries Stinson and Forrestal taking issue with findings as they relate to Gen. Marshall and Cordell Hull serve to complicate the issue even further.

Despite congressional demands, it is likely that the mistakes of Pearl Harbor have been buried under the victory which followed at such high cost.

Hirohito's Help

The American policy of kid glove treatment for the emperor of Japan has paid dividends in the saving of countless thousands of American lives in the peaceful "invasion" of the Japanese home islands.

Official Washington's careful abstinence from verbal attack on Hirohito and the immunity granted his person and his palace when bombers were over Tokyo has saved homes all over America from the tragedy which would have resulted had the fortunes of war required an armed assault on the Japanese islands.

The agreement to leave Hirohito on his throne under direction of Gen. MacArthur probably hastened the Japanese capitulation since it gave a modicum of face-saving so vital to the oriental ideology without detracting in any way from the finality and completeness of American victory.

With Hirohito on his royal throne by sufferance of his conquerors, Japan is taken over as a nation with an established and recognized government through which the occupying forces may govern the people, a situation vastly more promising than that in Germany where all recognized rule fell with Hitler and where the occupying forces must build law and order upon new foundations.

The emperor promises to be as useful a puppet to the occupation forces as he was to the Japanese military clique which used him as a symbol before and during the war. It is one of the numerous cases in which American strategy paid off in the successes which led so progressively to victory.

Japanese Cruelty

With the release of Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright and other American and Allied prisoners of war from the camps where they were held by the Japanese, the story of Japanese cruelty to helpless persons will be told.

There is no doubt it will be horrible, but even before it is told there is reasonable doubt that it can begin to be as horrible as the story of German persecution and slaughter of prisoners.

Even if were to approach the German performance in brutality, moreover, the fact would remain that the Japanese never were bound by the ethics of a Christian civilization; they were pagans.

There has been no hint that they ever indulged in mass murder on a systematic basis like that employed in the murder camps uncovered by the Allied invasion.

No stories revealed so far have told of methodical persecution of helpless persons on a scale comparable to that which decimated the Jews and Poles in Europe.

The Japanese brutality was that of an inferior people suddenly given power. German brutality was methodical and deliberate—not the cruelty of emotion, but the calculated cruelty of reason.

One of the most mocking discoveries of World War II may prove to be that the Japanese were no match for the Germans in reversion to the barbarism the Japanese were supposed never to have outgrown.

Peace Is Non-Partisan

In summoning John Foster Dulles, distinguished Republican lawyer and personal advisor to Thomas M. Dewey in his 1944 campaign, to help write the peace, the Truman administration is avoiding one of the mistakes which led to the defeat of President Wilson's plans and policies after the first World War. President Wilson's reluctance to give the opposition a place in the administration councils widened a breach which contributed to this nation's rejection of the League of Nations.

The new attitude in Washington which recognizes that brains, ability and loyalty are not the sole property of any political party is another move toward national solidarity and the handling of public questions on a national rather than on a partisan plane.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, September 1

WITH discretion, vigilance and a judicious suppression of strange inner urges, sensations and emotions, there is prospect of fair opportunities for accomplishment of favorite objectives. In this, employers, superiors or those in public places may be disposed to give their support, but with peculiar undercurrents lurking to secret, questionable and treacherous intrigues, it may be difficult to make much headway in every-day progress. Home, social and affectional enjoyments or plans seem to monopolize the attention and activities.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which there is fair prospect of moderate success and opportunity, in which superiors and those in influence and public place may be ready to lend support. But there is an undercurrent of intriguing, alluring and captivating conditions, which may wear from practical or workaday activities and logical benefits. This beneath the surface influence may concern domestic, social or emotional affiliations, in which trickery, sinister and possibly demoralizing circumstances may lure from constructive aims and cause trouble and regret, discrediting and undermining. Curb queer and inexplicable emotions and impulses in order to avoid sorrow.

A child born on this day may possess talents with opportunity for their expressions but may find its inner urges and emotions, plans and aspirations overwhelming.

Electric fans will be available by December. We doubt, however, that winter will need any help in keeping cool.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Disease of Blood Vessels

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOST everybody knows that the heart may be diseased but people generally are not aware that the blood vessels, too, may be diseased. There are a number of disorders that affect blood vessels. One of the most common disorders affecting blood vessels is known as Buerger's disease and is also known as thromboangiitis obliterans. The cause of the condition is not known but there are many theories concerning it.

There seems to be a general agreement that the excessive use of tobacco is an important contributing cause. The general reaction of the blood vessels to too much tobacco is a spasm of the muscles in the blood vessel walls which narrows the opening through the vessels. In Buerger's disease there is not only spasm of the blood vessels but also the formation of blood clots which obstruct the blood flow.

Development Gradual

As a rule, the condition develops gradually. Usually there is pain in the legs which is made worse by exercise. Often, when walking, the patient may have to stop and rest to relieve the pain. The skin of the affected legs feels cold and looks pale.

According to Doctor Emil J. C. Hildenbrand of Washington, D.C., with present-day methods of treatment the outlook for patients with Buerger's disease is much better than formerly. First, insofar as prevention is concerned, the avoidance of excessive exercise, exposure

Remove Restrictions On Animal Shows, Meetings

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—All restrictions on the holding of livestock and other animal shows will be removed Monday, the Office of Defense Transportation announced today.

The war committee on conventions further liberalized the ban on conventions, group meetings and trade shows, effective Monday.

State conventions and group meetings now may be held without obtaining the committee's approval, provided attendance is confined to persons living in or engaged in business within the state, plus not more than 25 persons, such as speakers and honored guests, from outside the state.

Trade shows may also be held, after clearance with the committee, provided attendance, exhibits, entries and exhibitors are limited to the state where the show is held. Applications, however, still must be filed for all trade shows.

TRY THE SALEM NEWS

to cold, and too much tobacco are helpful. Once the disorder has developed, prolonged standing or walking, the wearing of tight shoes or bandages, and exposure to cold must all be avoided.

Direct Treatment

Direct treatment of Buerger's disease consists in the use of such things as bed rest, prescribed exercise, baths, heat, fever treatment, the injection of salt solution into the veins, and the giving of certain drugs which have the effect of relieving muscle spasm.

An operation has been employed in treating this condition in which the nerves to the blood vessels are cut. However, operation seems to give only temporary relief and does not stop the progress of the disease.

Heat is very helpful in all cases but it must be properly used. The affected leg should not be exposed to temperatures higher than ordinary room temperature. The other leg may be put into water at a temperature of 113 degrees Fahrenheit. This, reflexly, will cause the blood vessels in the affected leg to dilate, thus improve circulation.

Heat applied to the trunk by means of blankets, hot water bottles, or an electric pad is helpful. Fever therapy, or raising the body temperature in a heat cabinet, also may be employed to increase the speed of the circulation. Doctor Hildenbrand suggests using a temperature of 103 degrees for a two-to-three-hour period. One or two treatments a week are employed. He has found that the patient may become free of pain after five or six of these treatments.

And while we are talking about the heart and blood vessels it might not be amiss to again stress the importance of regular physical examination especially in people past middle age.

Dr. Bundesen will answer letters containing medical questions only through his column. Address your inquiries to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

Crewmen of Kelly's Warship Relate How Ace Died In Action

ABOARD MERCY SHIP REEVES OFF OMORI PRISON CAMP, Japan, Aug. 30.—How Capt. Kelly actually died in battle was related for the first time today by the surviving crewmen of his warship.

Their lips had been sealed for nearly four years by confinement in a Japanese prisoner-of-war camp.

America's famed ace didn't sink the Japanese battleship Haruna by hitting her bomber against its stack, but he died a great hero just the same.

At the mention of his name, tears welled into the eyes of Pfc. Robert E. Kelly, 26, of Sanford, Fla., just evacuated from the vile Omori camp.

Altman was loading 500-pound bombs onto the B-17 as a member of Kelly's crew at Clark field, Luzon, Dec. 10, 1941, he asserted.

Suddenly the Japs launched an air raid and we had to take off with only three bombs. We saw the Nips' landing party under the protective bombardment of three destroyers and one heavy battleship.

"Capt. Kelly made a run over the battleship, expecting to see a carrier nearby. Finding none, he decided to attack the battleship, which was firing at us with its main guns. We dropped our three bombs in a train, scoring one direct and two indirect hits on the Haruna."

The captain's skill was magnificently shown in his maneuvering to position the ship for a direct hit. The vessel was burning from the bridge all the way back to our base at 20,000 feet altitude.

When the plane was five kilometers from Clark field, Altman dropped Kelly, dropped to 10,000 feet. Two Japanese fighter planes attacked and set the bomber afire.

"Our plane blew up in less than ten minutes," Altman said. "Of our eight-man crew, Capt. Kelly never reached the ship and Staff Sergeant Kelly, right side gunner, also was killed. I bailed out with five others and reached base unhurt."

Youth Fellowship Will Induct Officers Sunday

New officers of the Methodist youth fellowship will be installed in the Sunday morning service in this church by the pastor, Dr. James A. Scott. They are:

President, Donna Lou Getz; vice president, Camille Ertken; secretary, Norma Cunningham; third commission, Margaret Cooper; fourth commission, Elaine Schmitt; secretary, Bernice Cunningham; treasurer, Joan Widmer.

Miss Getz and Miss Velma O'Neal will give brief reports of the institute held last week at Leesville, Pa.

The fellowship has planned a five weeks' contest to start Sunday evening and continue for five weeks. For this the members have been divided into the "army," captained by Miss Getz, and the "navy" with Miss O'Neal captain.

The former title of Quartermaster was "harbinger's clerk," the quartermaster-general being styled the harbinger.

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

WASHINGTON—Here are some questions from veterans regarding National Service Life Insurance:

Q. I have heard conflicting reports on how and whether I can continue my Government Insurance. Will you explain?

A. Yes, you can continue your Government Insurance. You will find it one of the most valuable things you received from the service. Just pay premiums to the Collections Subdivision, Veterans Administration, Washington, 25, D. C.

Q. May a person now in service carry both U. S. Government Life (converted) Insurance and National Service Life Insurance?

A. Yes, but the total of all Government Insurance held by any person may not exceed $10,000 at any one time.

Q. My husband has $5000 worth of Government Life Insurance. Does that mean I get it only if he is killed in action?

A. If premiums are paid up to date you get the $5000 in regular monthly payments regardless of how your husband dies.

Q. I had a brother who was killed in action. He had just gotten married and made his wife the beneficiary in his $10,000 Government Life Insurance policy. His wife claims she has enough money to live on from that policy but I understand the payments are not very much. She is 25 years old. How much would the payments be?

A. Payments are made in 240 equal monthly installments at the rate of $5.51 for each $1,000 of insurance.

Q. How much creditor protection do I have on my National Service Life Insurance?

A. National Service Life Insurance policies are not assignable and cannot be reached by ordinary creditors. You may borrow on them, but only from the Government.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn) proposed a six-member board to conserve and restrict the use of atomic energy for national defense, to forbid its private exploitation, and to preserve the confidential character of information concerning it.

Says "Tickle" In Wool May Be Good For Skin

LONDON—Although the Wool Industries Research Assn. has been conducting experiments to eliminate the "tickle" in wool, it may have hygienic value, the association's director, Dr. R. H. Wilson, stated in his annual report for 1944. The association avoided claiming that a treatment devised to lessen the reaction of skin to wool had eliminated the "tickle," but said it was deemed possible in many cases, Dr. Wilson said the physiological problem of the "tickle" is "an idiosyncrasy" for which no adequate explanation has been given. "The possibility must not be disregarded," he added, "that such a degree of tickle may be of definite hygienic value in stimulating the skin and controlling the peripheral circulation."

OWI IS ABOLISHED BY TRUMAN ORDER

State Department Asked To Study Foreign Information Needs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—President Truman today abolished the Office of War Information.

In a statement accompanying an executive order, the President said he had asked the state department to study foreign information needs and to formulate during the remainder of this calendar year the foreign information program which he considers should be conducted on a continuing basis.

"The domestic work of OWI, such as cooperative with the press, radio, motion pictures and other informal media in explaining governmental programs, is no longer as necessary as it was," the President said.

"This order discontinues these activities and provides for the liquidation of OWI itself."

"Hereafter each government agency will deal directly with the various private information facilities. The President assumed OWI under the leadership of Elmer Davis, had made an outstanding contribution to victory."

Truman said some foreign information operations will continue to be necessary.

The second call was a grass fire at 3 p. m. east of town near Turkey Run when the fire threatened a nearby home and barn.

Miss Gloria Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Martin, will be guest soloist on radio station WPMJ on a new series of programs sponsored by the Music Teachers association of Youngstown at 11 a. m. Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tod F. Buzard have returned to Cleveland after spending a few days with the former's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Buzard.

Miss Nan Treadwell is spending the week at New Bern, N. C. as guest of Mrs. Oscar Montgomery.

OHIO RIVER CANAL BILL IS PREPARED

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—New legislation to authorize construction of a canal from the Ohio river to the Youngstown steel district is ready for congress.

Proponents say its chances are brightened by indications that President Truman, like the late President Roosevelt, wants the country's inland waterways developed fully.

Truman told a news conference yesterday that he will recommend quick congressional approval of the long-debated St. Lawrence seaway project. Advocates of the Ohio canal believe this means that the President will consider it an important segment of a general waterway plan.

Railroads and Pennsylvania interests are against the Ohio canal on the ground that it would benefit only a few steel mills. Proponents say Youngstown is suffering from a competitive disadvantage because most other steel areas, such as Pittsburgh, have low cost water transportation at their doors.

Rep. Kirwan (D-Ohio) wants congress to authorize a $38,000,000 channel from Rochester, Pa., on the Ohio river, to Struthers, Ohio, by way of the Beaver and Mahoning rivers.

The army engineers have approved this program as well as a proposal to dig a canal all the way from the Ohio river to Lake Erie. Kirwan says the longer canal could be dug later if the shorter channel turned out to be profitable.

Hope Fibrin Will Save Lives of Siamese Twins

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 31.—Winging westward this morning was a mercy plane bringing with it a "small amount" of the new chemical substance fibrin film which it is hoped here will save the lives of Arizona's five-day old Siamese twins.

The film was donated by Harvard university's research laboratories after the Rev. Emmett McLaughlin appealed for it.

Father Emmett explained the fibrin—a product of blood plasma—would be used on the exposed underside of the umbilicus sac which joins the twins. He said the umbilicus might herniate otherwise. He expressed a belief that if the umbilicus is kept intact the children, daughters of Rita and Jesus Miranda of nearby Coldwater, may live.

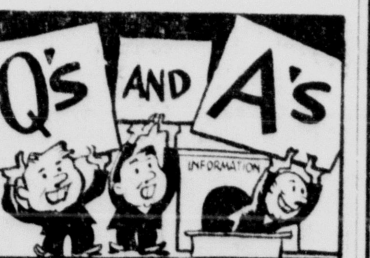

Explosion Rips Vessel; Three Crewmen Missing

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 31.—Three crewmen of the Norwegian tanker, Herbrand, were missing and believed dead today after a terrific explosion tore open the vessel's bow as she lay anchored in Portland harbor.

The blast, followed by fire which was quickly extinguished, occurred a few hours after the 15,000-ton vessel had discharged her cargo of 4,529,826 gallons of crude oil at the Portland Pipe Line Co.

Dead Husband Bobs Up After Youthful Bride Weds Uncle

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 31.—Only twelve days after she had married an uncle of the husband she thought dead, 19-year-old Mrs. Ann Ross Birdwell received the news that her soldier husband was alive and safe—one of the hundreds liberated in the last few days from Japanese prison camps.

Staff Sgt. Gene D. Birdwell, 21, a gunner on a Liberator bomber, was reported by the war department killed in action over Borneo last October. Twelve days ago his supposed widow married Jack Marshall, 33, an uncle of the sergeant.

"It just leaves me numb," Mrs. Birdwell-Marshall said last night at the home of her parents.

Marshall, a garage mechanic in Wichita, Kas., would make no comment.

His bride added, "I don't know what I'll do about it. I'll have to have time to think this out."

STATE TREASURER OPERATES OFFICE ON PROFIT BASIS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31.—The rare spectacle of a government agency operated at a cash profit for the taxpayers was presented today by the state treasurer's office.

Treasurer Don H. Ebricht reported that his office not only cost the state's taxpayers nothing in 1943 and 1944, but earned a profit of $259,993 last year.

How? By the interest the state government received on money it deposited in banks and loaned to the federal government.

In 1944 the state treasurer invested $80,000,000 in U. S. government bonds and received in interest $426,367. He deposited $70,000,000 in Ohio banks and received in interest $47,842.

The interest thus aggregated $474,209. The entire cost of operating the treasurer's office, with a staff of 100 persons, was $323,215. Subtract this cost from the $474,209 income, and the profit for 1944 is $259,993.

The banks paid an average interest rate of three-tenths of one per cent, while the U. S. bonds yielded seven-eighths of one per cent.

Money In Demand Now
Money is now more in demand, and the banks this year are paying an average of 3/8 of one per cent.

The year 1943 was the first since 1933 the state treasurer's office operated at a profit. Before 1933 the banks bid up to 6 per cent for the privilege of using surplus state funds in their inactive accounts (similar to a savings account) and up to 2 per cent for funds for active accounts (similar to checking accounts).

The national banking act of 1933, however, restricted the banks to payment of one per cent on inactive funds of the state and prohibited them from paying any interest on active state accounts.

In addition to the $70,000,000 which the state treasurer has placed in the banks this year at 3/8 of one per cent interest, the banks have deposited $30,000,000 of state funds in active accounts on which they pay no interest.

The state's investments in U. S. bonds at the present total $77,000,000.

Altogether, the treasurer has $177,000,000 out in government bonds and banks. Much of the money, however, includes cash which the state is now spending or is committed to spend in the future. So the $177,000,000 is not surplus.

The surplus technically amounts to approximately $100,000,000, Ebricht said. Of this, the legislature has earmarked $81,000,000 for capital improvement (generally new buildings) expenditures.

The British organized the first "Agraph Service" to maintain contact with troops in Egypt and India via microfilm.

County Wheat Crop Good, Shaw Reports

Clifford F. Shaw, Columbiana County AAA chairman, said today that most farmers in the county harvested a pretty fair wheat crop this year.

"The income from this crop is helping to send farm youngsters to school and is financing the farm family in many ways."

Shaw said the county office has been busy preparing for transmission to the branch office of Federal Crop Insurance Corporation in Chicago, the applications for insurance on the 1946 wheat crop, turned in by local crop insurance agents.

Crop insurance, according to Shaw, protects crop investments and virtually eliminates the gambles in raising wheat. The Federal insurance program offers a choice of coverage of 50 to 75 per cent of the average farm yields and protects against unavoidable hazards to growing crops.

Applications for crop insurance must be made before planting or before Sept. 15—the closing date—whichever is earlier.

Flames Destroy Vessels At Shipbuilding Plant

PORTLAND, Ore. — Aug. 31—Flames swept through Oregon Shipbuilding Corp. today, destroying possibly millions of dollars of newly completed vessels and killing a cabin painter. The man drowned when he dived from a flaming ship into the basin. An asbestos operator was also missing. The outfitting dock caught fire. Flames swept under the piling, en-

The fire broke on the Texas Victory, a completed ship, and roared within minutes over the U.S.S. Glynn, a troopship. Several other ships were caught in the blaze.

The water level of the oceans would have to be lowered 10,000 feet to give the earth an even distribution of land and water.

Thorpe's 50-Yard Dropkick Historic Memory In Canton

By HARRY YOCKEY

Canton Repository Sports Editor

CANTON, Aug. 31—Thirty years ago this fall a sac and fox Indian with power and speed dropkicked a 50-yard, victorious field goal for Canton's Bulldogs to touch off a career which has become synonymous with professional football's fist and whisky days.

Jim Thorpe is now 59 but in the early 1900's when a good fist or cleated foot succeeded where a good block or tackle failed, he spread destruction among opposing linemen and backs as he galloped to grid immortality.

The now-reformed All-American from Carlisle Indian college, who was called the world's greatest athlete after winning the Decathlon and Pentathlon at the 1912 Olympic games in Sweden, is the strongest link between today's game and that of yesterday.

Canton boasted world supremacy in those riotous professional days but it wasn't all due to Thorpe. He had been preceded by such stars as Doc Spears, Paul (Twister) Steinberg, Billy Heston, Pop Sweet, Eddie Murphy, Jack Lang, Tom Thorp, Bill Smith, Jack Riley, Eddie Wood, Stevie Stephenson, Buck Hall, Jack Ernest and Russell Whitacre.

There Were Other Stars

With Thorpe and after him were Guy Chamberlin, Bob Higgins, Joe Williams, Greasy Neale, Fido Kempton, Pete Henry, Doc Elliott, Pete Calae, Joe Guyon, Dutch Speck, Link Lyman, Hi West, Cecil Griggs, Wookie Roberts, Tarzan Taylor, Harry Robb, Johnny Gilroy, Norm Sacksteder, Duke Osborn, Larry Conover, Karp Julian, Howard Buck, Milton Ghee, Unk Russell, Fat Walsmith, Louie Smyth, Horse Edwards, Tom Gernley, Fred Setton, "Mother" Dunn, Bunnie Cochran, Willie Flaherty, Rudy Constock, Mark Devlin, Al Feeny and a host of others.

And eight miles away was Massillon, most despised foe of the Bulldogs.

In its heyday that city had such stars as Knute Rockne, Gus Dorias, Charley Brinkley, Dan (Bullet) Riley, Red Salmon, Charley Moran, Doc Sutherland, Tuss McLaughry, Harry James, Peggy Parrot, Herm Kerchoff, "Nasty" Bob Nash, Red Fleming, Stanley Coffall, Stumpy Miller, Bull Lowe, Tiny Maxwell, etc.

The Canton-Massillon rivalry, which often saw All-Americans riding the benches because of the abundance of players, started in 1904. The Late Dr. Harry March, professional football historian and author, said that first game "was the shot heard around the world." It's echo must have been long because it brought some of the game's greatest stars to the two cities for as little as $75 and expenses.

The bloody-rivalry between players also saw fans lost their shirts and even homes and business places, mostly saloons, in some of the wildest betting ever known. Fans from throughout the country swelled the crowds to 10,000 every time the Bulldogs and Tigers clashed.

Caused Family Fueds!

Dr. March always insisted the rivalry became so heated that brothers living in the two cities wouldn't speak to each other except at funerals and then only talk about the deceased!

The fued ended temporarily in 1906 when a player for Canton, then coached by Bandy Wallace, was accused of throwing a game after the Canton team had bet $2,500 on itself.

But the seed had been planted deep. The Bulldogs were reorganized in 1915 and Thorpe arrived in time for the season's second game with Massillon. His dropkick avenged the first-game defeat and started Canton skyrocketing to the pro grid heights.

While the two cities had many stars, above them all stood Thorpe. He was amazingly powerful for his 190 pounds, could kick the ball 90 yards in the air at will and dropkick fieldgoals from the 50 like a rocket. He could twitch his hips like a glamour gal and his powerful shoulders were encased in corrugated sheet metal shoulder pads which enabled him to shed tacklers like a bulldozer.

Pro football owes some of its "firsts" to Canton. The first forward pass ever thrown in a pro game was caught by Eddie Wood in 1906 in a game against Massillon.

Canton played Buffalo's All-American Bisons late in 1920 in the first contest ever staged by representative pro teams in New York. Canton suffered its first loss of the season when one of Thorpe's punts was blocked and turned into a touchdown.

Canton, too, was the scene in 1921 of the organization of the National League of Professional clubs with Joe E. Carr, who managed the Columbus Panhandles, being named president. Today's National league is the outgrowth of that group.

Canton was recognized as World Champion three times and claimed the title on three other occasions. After Thorpe joined Cleveland, Chamberlin led the Bulldogs to world championships in 1922 and 23, the teams winning 21, losing none and tying three. Chamberlin then went to Cleveland, which had bought practically the entire Canton team, and won another title in 1924.

Many are the stories the old timers recall about the Bulldogs, and Thorpe.

There was the time Thorpe picked up a large sand urn on the mezzanine floor of the Courtland hotel and dropped it to the lobby 20 feet below. The crash sent guests running out of the hotel which they thought was falling down.

Once Thorpe was sitting in a hotel lobby when a friend wondered what would happen if someone would go through the big plate glass window in front of them. Jim supplied the answer without hesitation and without getting scratched!

His prowess on the football field wasn't often doubted. Knute Rockne did, however, and regretted it. He tackled Thorpe despite repeated warnings to "get out of Jim's way and let him run." Finally Thorpe hit Rockne with such force the immortal coach was still on the ground long after Jim had crossed the goal line. Rockne always laughed when he admitted he then took Thorpe's advice and "let old Jim run."

Akron once obtained a big star to play against the Bulldogs but early in the game he made the mistake of fanning his nose at Thorpe. On the next play the raging Thorpe hit his foe so hard they had to carry him off the field, broken bones signalling the end of one football career.

Thorpe was hurt in one game with Massillon and it was rumored he would be unable to play against the Tigers several weeks later. But he played and scored every point as Canton won 23-0. Then it was learned Thorpe had started the rumor himself and had friends bet $2,000 of his own money on the contest.

Thorpe and the Bulldogs will never be forgotten in Canton. They played the pro game when it was in its infancy but none contributed more to its success than they. In fact, today's Canton-Massillon High school rivalry, which began in 1894 and reaches its 50th game this Nov. 17, owes some of its nationwide notoriety to the old Bulldogs.

They were hell-for-leather football players who often cried when they lost and got roaring-drunk when they won. And they won most of the time.

WASHINGTON MAY TAKE PENNANT, IN BLUEGE'S OPINION

Pilot Says They Have As Good a Chance As Any One, and Will Win

BY BUS HAM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—"We've got as good a chance as anybody else to win the pennant, and we believe we're going to do it."

Those words, while not yet famous, at least are the latest from Ossie Bluege, skipper of the Washington Senators, wonder team of the unpredictable American league race.

Bluege brought his club home yesterday from a rough and tumble, three week road trip only one game out of first place. Tonight the Senators open their "stretch" drive in a doubleheader with the New York Yankees, who whipped Washington four games in two days last weekend.

"Those Yankees are not big, bad wolves to us, despite that last series with them," said Bluege. "Three of the four games the Yankees won on homers should have been our ball games, and it'll be different in our big park."

Anyway the Yankees are not the club Bluege figures he'll have to beat. Nor are the leading Detroit Tigers. The distinction goes to the third-place St. Louis Browns.

Browns Are Hot

"The Browns are hot now, not too far back and they've got a sound, good all-around club," the manager said.

"Case is hitting 216, gets on base as frequently as any other man in the league, and is the self-starter of our run-making machine."

In a little more than three weeks, the Senators, ending their season September 23, will play 31 games, including 11 doubleheaders. Of these games 24 will be at home.

All along, Bluege has said that he would rather be in a challenging position than setting the pace going into the home stretch. That's exactly where he finds his team today.

Perhaps the gravest danger to his pennant hopes that Bluege sees is the freakish schedule which ends Washington's season a full week before other contenders close up shop.

"That means we will have to be on top by at least two games when we wind up," he said. "Even then, we'll have to do a lot of praying, because some club—St. Louis, New York or Detroit—is bound to get hot along about that time."

In other games last night, Toledo scored twice in the last of the month to beat Louisville, 6 to 3, while St. Paul scored eight times in the sixth to break a scoreless deadlock with Kansas City before a rainstorm stopped the game.

Heb Barna Leading Association Homers

(By Associated Press)

Minneapolis was just about ready today to add to its long list of home run leaders in the American association another two times winner, Herbert (Babe) Barna, the Millers' big outfielder.

Barna, who has had a couple of trials in the major leagues but didn't stick, slammed out his 25th homer yesterday as the Millers beat league leading Milwaukee, 2 to 1. The smash put him one ahead of his total of 1944.

With the season ending Sept. 9 Barna still has a chance to pass the 26 homers made by Ab Wright with the Millers in 1941. Currently he is leading Leighton Kimball of St. Paul by seven circuit blows.

Wright was the third Miller to twice cop the title.

Indianapolis narrowed Milwaukee's lead to 3½ games by trouncing Columbus, 12 to 3. Jim Wallace, league leading pitcher, won his 15th game as the Indians broke their nine game losing streak.

In other games last night, Toledo scored twice in the last of the month to beat Louisville, 6 to 3, while St. Paul scored eight times in the sixth to break a scoreless deadlock with Kansas City before a rainstorm stopped the game.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 31 — The Proctor & Gamble Co. plans the erection of a $1,000,000 soap plant in Sandusky, to employ between 300 and 400 persons, the firm announced today.

Barbara Hutton Granted Divorce From Cary Grant

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31 — Barbara Hutton, thrice-married, divorcee heiress, was granted a divorce yesterday from Cary Grant in a brief hearing at which the British-born film actor did not appear.

"He did not like my friends," Miss Hutton testified. "When he came down and my friends were there he obviously didn't look amused. That upset me. It made me very nervous and that caused me to go under a doctor's care."

Her attorney, Jerry Giesler, told the court there was no property settlement.

The year before her marriage to Grant, Miss Hutton was divorced from the former Danish count, Count Haugwitz-Reventlow. Previously she was the wife of Alexis Mdivani, Georgian prince killed in an automobile accident after their divorce.
